

JA FINANCIAL LITERACY Pacing Guide

This course is designed in a way that allows educators to deliver the full curriculum in either a traditional 45-minute class period format or a 90-minute block schedule, making it adaptable to a wide range of school schedules and instructional settings.

The course spans 16 topics organized across 4 units and includes a final course case study challenge. The full curriculum is designed to fit comfortably within a typical 16- to 18-week semester.

The course uses the following structure:

- 4 units
- 4 topics per unit
- 5 sessions per topic (45-minute session length)
- Case Challenge (10 sessions at the end of the course)

Note: Pre- and post-course surveys are mandatory and are not accounted for in the pacing of the course. Additional time should be provided for students to complete the surveys prior to starting any course materials and at the conclusion of all semester course sessions.

Option 1: 45-Minute Class Schedule / 18 Weeks

(16 Topics + Final Course Case Challenge)

In the 45-minute session format, each topic is covered over five sessions, with each session dedicated to one phase of the 5E instructional framework. This pacing mirrors a standard Monday–Friday class schedule and totals 80 topic sessions plus 10 Case Challenge sessions across 18 weeks

Post-Course Survey (Mandatory) Must be completed at the end of the course

Option 2: 90-Minute Block Schedule / 18 Weeks

In the 90-minute block format, each topic is completed usually within a single week across three blocks. Sessions are paired to maximize instructional flow: Engage and Explore are combined in the first block, Explain and Elaborate in the second, and Evaluate stands alone in the third to allow adequate time for reflection and assessment. This format totals 54 blocks across 18 weeks.

Note for Alternating Block Schedules

Some schools operate on an alternating block schedule where classes meet three days one week and two days the next. In this format, a single topic will occasionally span two weeks rather than fitting neatly into one. To maintain semester pacing, Block C on three-block weeks serves as a transition block, with the first portion completing the current topic's Evaluate session and the remaining time beginning the next topic's Engage session. This approach allows two topics to be bridged within a single class period and minimizes transition time between units.

An important scheduling consideration is that a strict 3/2 alternating pattern provides only 45 instructional blocks over 18 weeks—fewer than the 54 blocks required to complete all 16 topics and the final Case Challenge. To remain on pace, an additional third instructional block should occur approximately every 4–5 weeks, ideally scheduled at the end of each unit. Combined with the Block C transition strategy, these additional blocks provide the instructional time needed to complete all four units plus the final Case Challenge within the semester.

This is an example of a full unit using this alternating block schedule.
